

Religious Responses to the

Climate Change Crisis

Are you passionate about Climate Change?

Join us on:

Saturday 3rd August 2019, 5pm—6.30pm

Kilbirnie Mosque, 9 Queens Drive, Kilbirnie

for a special talk and discussion by Rabbi Jonathan Keren-Black, Leo Baeck Centre, Melbourne, covering:

- The work of the Australian Religious Response to Climate Change and what we can learn in NZ
- Our shared religious traditions of Jews, Christians, and Muslims in caring for the planet
- The role of faith-based people in overcoming the crisis
- What we can do in our own congregations and the Abrahamic and Interfaith communities

Enquiries to Dave Moskovitz (Wellington Abrahamic Council):
